

Panther Paws Newsletter

written by:Korrigan Spruill

Welcome to the Saint Jo Elementary Newsletter. Today is a beautiful day to be happy. Fall is starting and summer is ending. Fall will be the time we get to play in the raked leaves and they'll get stuck in our hair. Halloween is coming up too so get your costume ready. Homecoming was last week I was in Washington State not DC. It was in the Tacoma part of Washington and on my flight I saw the big space needle in Seattle, Washington and my cousin Tate lives in the Gig Harbor part of Washington. Did you know that in Washington instead of calling it Homecoming, they call it the Fishbowl because it is surrounded by water? However,I did great on both plain rides.I sure hope some of you who haven't rode a plane I hope you do soon because that would be awesom!This is a GT project by the way.I hope yall are ready for halloween because I am!
